GERMAN RETREAT NOW APPEARS TO BE ROUT

Americans and French Fast Driving Enemy From Positions in Southern Picardy and in Sector
Between Vesle and Aisne

30 VILLAGES TAKEN BY FRENCH

Great Conflagrations Rage Behind Boche Lines
Northwest of Noyon—South of Fresnes, French
Penetrate Old Hindenburg Line

(By the Associated Press.)

The French and Americans are fast driving out the Germans from their positions in Southern Picardy and in the sector between the Vesle and the Aisne rivers. So rapid has been the progress of the Allies—the French in Picardy and the Americans and French from Soissons eastward toward Rheims—that the retirement of the enemy has the appearance at present of the beginning almost a rout.

Meanwhile, Field Marshal Haig in the north, from Peronne to Tpres, has been almost as busily engaged with his troops in carrying out successful maneuvers which are only in a slightly less degree forcing the Germans everywhere to give ground.

Haig's men again have made the Germans taste bitter defeat on numerous sectors, and the end of the punishment for them seems not yet in sight.

In the latest fighting in the region extending from the old Noyon sector to Soissons, the French have reclaimed 30 villages from the Germans; have crossed the Somme canal at several points and are standing only a short distance from the important junction of Ham with its roads leading to St. Quentin and La Fere.

French Cross Ailette River.

On the south, they have made further crossings of the Ailette river and are fast skirting the great wooded region, which acts as a barrier to direct attacks on Laon, the Chemin-des-Dames and the western Aisne defenses of the enemy. Seemingly, at the present rate of progress, this barrier shortly will have been overcome and indeed, the entire salient northwest of Soissons obliterated. Already the French south of Fresnes, on the fringe of the high forest of Coucy, have penetrated the old Hindenburg line.

All behind the lines northeast of Noyon, great conflagrations are to be seen, particularly around Jussy and LaFere, which apparently is an indication that it is the intention of the Germans to fall back as fast as they can to the old German line running southeastward from St. Quentin.

Huns Driven Across the Aisne.

The French and Americans are hard after the Germans between the Vesle river and the Aisne, and for more than eight miles, extending from Combe to Vieux-Arcy, they have driven the enemy across the Aisne and are standing on the southern bank of the river. Eastward, toward Rheims, almost up to the gates of the Cathedral city, the German line is falling back northward. At the anchor point of the line, in the vicinity of Rheims, however, the Germans seem to be holding, evidently realizing that a retrograde movement here would necessitate a straightening of their line perhaps as far eastward as Verdun.

In the initial maneuver to the retreat along the Vesle front, the Americans and French captured both Bazoches and Fismette. From Bazoches they moved six miles northward to Vieux-Arcy, while from Fismette they have penetrated more than three miles northward to Barbonval, which is only a little more than a mile south of the Aisne.

British Take Town in Flanders.

In Flanders, the British have taken the town of Ploeghelde and positions southwest of Messines and northwest of Wulverghem and repulsed strong counter attacks launched against them.

Southeast of Arras, all the way down the line to south of the Somme below Peronne, the British have dug more deeply in the enemy's front on various sectors, especially toward Cambrai and immediately north and south of Peronne, in the latter region having driven in the enemy's rear guard for considerable distances.

The Germans have been viciously bombarding the Americans at Fismette on the eastern end of the battle front in Lorraine, but have attempted to infantry attacks. More than 200 shells, many of them gas projectiles, have been sent into the American lines by the enemy.

English Destroy 465 Hun Planes.

London, England, Sept. 5.—Four hundred and sixty-five enemy machines have been destroyed and 200 disabled since the commencement of the offensive on August 8, according to an official statement in aerial operations tonight. Sixty-one hostile balloons were destroyed and 211 tons of bombs were dropped on various targets.

Two hundred and sixteen British machines are missing.

AVIATOR CARRIES MAIL.
Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 5.—Max Miller in a large airplane carrying mail from New York to Chicago, landed in a field in the outskirts of this city at 8:20 tonight. The machine was slightly damaged, but the pilot escaped injuries.

SENATE DEBATES "SLACKER HUNT"

President Wilson Then Requests
Attorney General to Make
Thorough Investigation

ROUND UP CALLED OFF

Much Quibbling as to Who Ordered Use of Soldiers and Sailors in Hunt

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—President Wilson late today asked Attorney General Gregory to report to him all the conditions and circumstances surrounding the so-called "slacker round up" in New York city this week in which some 10,000 men were taken into custody by agents of the department of justice, the military intelligence bureau and soldiers and sailors. The request was transmitted after the matter had been vigorously debated today in the senate and Senator Smoot of Utah, Republican, had offered a resolution proposing an investigation by the senate military committee to establish who issued orders for the use of soldiers and sailors in the round up. Objection by Senator Kirby of Arkansas, Democrat, caused the resolution to go over, but Senator Smoot plans to call it up again Monday.

Question Authority for Order.

The round-up was conducted under the direction of federal district attorneys, who unquestionably acted under guidance from Washington. At the office of Provost Marshal General Crowder today, it was said that the arrests were made without authority from or knowledge of that office. It was regarded as possible, however, that representatives of the office in New York had assisted in the work. No word was forthcoming from the war and navy departments as to who issued orders for soldiers and sailors to participate. In calling the attention of the senate today to the wholesale arrests, Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the military committee, said he objected to such unauthorized procedure. He was joined in his protests by Senators Calder of New York, Johnson of California, Sherman of Illinois and other senators, while Minority Leader Lodge was insistent that the country should know who was responsible for the employment of the nation's fighting men in such an undertaking.

The slacker round up in New York city, was carried out by direction of the department of justice and full responsibility for it is assumed by A. Bruce Bielaski, chief of the department's bureau of investigation. This was stated tonight authoritatively. It was also said that an officer of the provost marshal general's office had worked with the department in directing the raids, as had the military intelligence bureau and some naval officers. No announcement was made as to who authorized the use of soldiers and sailors in carrying out the round up.

"Slacker Hunt" Called Off.

New York, Sept. 5.—It was announced shortly before midnight that Charles F. DeWoody, chief of the department of justice bureau of investigation in this city, had called off all "slacker" raids in New York and nearby communities at 8 o'clock tonight. Late this afternoon Mr. DeWoody intimated that this drive might extend beyond the three-day limit. By 9 o'clock, the 69th regiment, army, the chief detention center, was practically deserted. The last prisoners had been taken before the central examining board at the federal building, where two judges of the United States circuit court worked far into the night, disposing of the cases rapidly. They announced that they would hold court all night if necessary.

Chiefs of the bureau of investigation were notified of the proposed investigation of the raid by the senate military committee. Mr. DeWoody asserted it was "silly to assume that I would ever have undertaken such work without the authority of my superiors in office," and that "when the good results and figures are given in the final report of this work in New York, I will stand pat and assume responsibility before anybody."

Figures on Drive Being Tabulated.

"When we planned this drive," he continued, "we intended to carry it on three days. This is our third day and we are going through our program as originally planned. Whether we will continue it further than tonight, I am not prepared to say, but we have left our program open so that we could carry it on longer than the three-day limit if we found it desirable to do so. Whether the drive will continue will depend on figures which I am having tabulated, which will tell us where we stand. I will have the figures in hand tonight, but will send them first to my superiors at Washington before giving them out for publication."

An office-to-office hunt started today in the Equitable building, a 40-story structure on lower Broadway, was stopped after George T. Morris, president of the Equitable Building corporation, had communicated with Mr. DeWoody.

Raids carried today into the financial district resulted in the arrest of many more alleged slackers and although exact figures are not available, it is estimated that nearly 10,000 suspects had been rounded up.

Fixing of Cotton Prices Opposed by Some Senators

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Senators from the cotton growing states, at a conference today, decided to protest to President Wilson against any action by the War Industries board looking to the fixing of cotton prices. The senators hoped to see the President tomorrow.

Chairman Baruch, of the War Industries board, announced yesterday that a committee would soon be appointed, with the approval of the President, to visit the cotton-growing states and inquire into the "adaptability and feasibility" of stabilizing cotton prices for the protection of both the producer and consumer, and of handling the crop so that the needs of the United States and the Allies could be met.

The board's decision resulted from the sharp deterioration of the crop in July and August, caused by a severe drought over the belt.

FRENCH REPULSE COUNTER BLOWS

Mangin's Forces, After Beating
Off Prussian Guard, Make
Further Progress

Somme River Crossed

War Office in Reporting Gains,
Announces recapture of
Thirty Villages

With the French Armies in France, Sept. 5, 1:30 p. m.—French reconnoitering parties to the east of Soissons this morning advanced to the river Aisne north of Brenelle and Chassemy. Further east, advanced elements reached the Canal Lateral, which runs along the south bank of the Aisne, and are facing the positions on the north bank from which the Germans are firing from machine guns.

General Mangin's forces, after repulsing two violent counter attacks launched by Prussian Guards against the Mont-des-Tombs last evening, made further progress today, to the east of Lullis.

General Humbert's men crossed the Somme at Epanancourt during the night, occupying several points on the east bank. Further south, the advance continued this morning with greater facility than yesterday between the Oise and Auvrecoeur heights. The passage of the Somme was effected after a series of sharp engagements in which the German mountain troops offered stiff resistance at every foot of ground.

Fight Among the Bullrushes.

Hidden among the bullrushes and in the hollows and the dried beds of branches of the rivers, the Germans were able to use their quick-firing effectively, compelling the pursuers now and then to slow up their progress in order to turn difficult positions. General Humbert's men built foot bridges under fire. The first bridges were destroyed, together with their builders, but other men gallantly replaced those killed, and, facing a deadly fire, continued until pontoon and foot bridges were thrown across the stream.

A French soldier, notwithstanding the fact that the river was under the fire of German sharpshooters, undertook the task of swimming the river to the opposite side and bringing back a rowboat. During the trip across, the soldier dived many times in order to duck the bullets that were being fired at him, but he braved an even more dangerous fire while rowing back, being an excellent target for the enemy ambushed along the banks of the stream.

Pluckily crossing the stream under fire, the French troops then attacked the enemy in the marshes and reeds and in all sorts of other hiding places on the opposite bank and finally took the positions, which were veritable nests of machine guns, and pushed on toward the Peronne-Ham road. Ham thus is threatened from the north and outflanked on the south.

Paris, France, Sept. 5.—The French troops made important advances today both along the Canal du Nord and north of the Vesle, according to the war office announcement tonight. During the course of the day, 39 villages were retaken along the Ailette river.

STRIKES DELAY WAR CONTRACTS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Steps to enforce acceptance by employees of munition factories in Bridgeport, Conn., of the recent award of the war labor board are under consideration by the secretary of war. In making this announcement tonight, the war department said the secretary had taken the matter up with the war labor board as the result of an appeal the ordinance department, contracts let by which are being delayed by the strikes in the plants.

since the crusade began. No official estimate was made of the number of actual delinquents caught, but it is believed that from 2,000 to 4,000 men have been inducted into military service or held for prosecution.

HUNS HARASSED ON AISNE FRONT

American and French Troops
Hasten Retreat of Entire Enemy Forces

LAON NOW IN DANGER

Heavy German Artillery Fire
Fails to Stop Advance of Doughboys

(By the Associated Press.)

With the American Army on the Aisne front, Sept. 5.—The American and French troops, who have followed closely on the heels of the enemy since the evacuation of the Vesle valley, are still in contact, harassing the rear guards and hastening the movement of the whole force.

Long before nightfall the Americans had worked their way down into the lowlands toward the Aisne off the plateau from which they had been able to look over the next valley at the cathedral tower in Laon, not 15 miles away.

It is at that point where is located the heart of the present German operation. Laon is a great communication center and must naturally be defended with the utmost determination if the Allied forces are to be prevented from driving back to it the German line from the west and south.

Only a Preliminary Retirement.

The retirement of the Germans to positions north of the Aisne is regarded as only preliminary to their reoccupation of their old line of defense along the Chemin-des-Dames. With their recrossing of the Aisne, the second phase of the retreat from the Marne is ended.

So steady and rapid was the withdrawal of the Germans carried out that French cavalry was employed today to maintain contact at one or two places.

The Americans were subjected at times to a rather heavy artillery fire, especially while going over the plateau. For about two miles it was necessary for them to advance in the open over high ground plainly visible to the German observers. Both heavy and light artillery swept the zone, but without checking to any degree the forward movement. The French and American artillery, meanwhile, delivered a punitive fire directed against the villages and roads beyond the Aisne and shelled the points where machine gun nests were located. The clearing out of these nests was accomplished more by the artillery in this engagement than in previous battles. The overwhelming number of automobiles were so placed that they were so far apart that from some angle a cross fire could not be effectively used.

Sharp Engagements Occur.

Some sharp engagements did occur. These were brief, however, the Germans who were not killed or seriously wounded, withdrawing along little communication trenches into large trenches leading to ravines, through which they escaped. This was not a day for prisoners, the whole number taken being less than 20.

It would be no surprise if the Germans extended their evacuation to the region south of the Aisne, which they hold in the direction of Rheims. It is regarded as inevitable that the Germans will find that the newly-made salient is untenable. If they do not withdraw, they will be in a serious position as at any time pressure may be exerted both from the south and northwest.

With the American Forces in Lorraine, Sept. 5, 2:30 p. m.—German patrols made a sortie from their lines late yesterday, following several hours of shelling of the village of Frappe. They evidently were planning on being able to take prisoners.

An American lieutenant saw the enemy party coming and proceeded into no man's land with his forces in an attempt to surround the Germans. The enemy was put to flight, leaving two prisoners in the hands of the Americans. No casualties were suffered by the Americans.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS ELECT.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 5.—San Francisco was selected as the place for holding the 1918 national encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans by the delegates of the organization at their annual reunion here today. The time was not announced. National officers were elected as follows:

PROBE NEW JERSEY DRAFTING.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 5.—Federal authorities are conducting an investigation into the operations of the draft law in New Jersey to determine the reason why New Jersey ranks lowest among the states in the percentage of its youths placed in Class A-1 and made subject to immediate dispatch to training camps. The probe will determine whether the situation is due to ignorance or other reasons.

SMALL CROWD WATCHES BOSTON BEAT CHICAGO

Effect of War Everywhere Apparent in First Game of World's Series Which Goes to Red
Sox, 1 to 0—Attendance is 19,247

CONTEST IS A PITCHERS' BATTLE

Vaughn, of Cubs, and Ruth, of Red Sox, Fight It
Out All the Way Throughout Errorless Game—
Whiteman Stars in Outfield for Boston

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 5.—One of the smallest crowds which ever turned out for a world's series opening saw the Boston Red Sox of the American league defeat the Cubs of the National league 1 to 0 today in an errorless game.

The battle was between Vaughn of the Cubs and Babe Ruth. These two giants fought it out all the way, and although Ruth allowed six hits to his opponent's five, the break went to the invaders and they were consequently making confident claims to the world's championship tonight.

The effect of the war was everywhere apparent, especially in the temper of the crowd which, largely local, saw the home team drop the first game without a protest. There was no cheering during the contest, nor was there anything like the usual umpire baiting.

Today's attendance was 19,247. Rain caused postponement of the first game scheduled for yesterday. Today the downpour had ceased and the grounds were comparatively dry. The sun shone fitfully and there was a stiff, chill breeze from the north. No seats were occupied in the upper tier of the second floor of the grand stand, and the right section of the stand was practically empty. In the left section there were also many vacant chairs. A number of boxes were without occupants and in the bleachers the three lower rows all around the field were vacant.

Public's Indifference Accounted For.

War taxes, the high cost of living, curtailed railroad service and advanced prices, the weather, the curtailed season, and over all the shadow of the war were said to account for the indifference of the public. The dried-in-the-wool fans were there but not the general public.

Even the brass band was cut down to a war basis of 12 pieces, and it attracted most attention when it played "The Star-Spangled Banner." On this occasion players and audience stood respectfully. Fred Thomas among them. Thomas, third baseman for Boston, was in the Red Sox uniform by grace of a 14-day furlough from the Great Lakes Training station.

One thrill was granted the crowds aside from the game and that was what must have happened to the aspirations of the ticket speculators. They had unlimited seats which they attempted to sell at double and even triple normal prices. The one-handed spear by Scott of Vaughn's hot grounder in the seventh inning provided the only spectacular feature of the contest. It was a beautiful day but as it was the Cubs were not threatening. The whole nine innings failed to produce a hit for extra bases, nor any real test for speed of the outfielders.

George Whiteman Stars in Outfield.

George Whiteman, Boston utility outfielder, starred in the outfield for Boston and doubtless prevented the Cubs from scoring.

He was the only man of the invaders to make two hits, one of which figured in Boston's lone but victorious tally.

Vaughn's momentary weakness in the fourth inning cost him the game. Shean, the first man up for Boston, walked when the giant Cub twirler attempted to work the corners on Umpire O'Day. Strunk, who followed, fled to Vaughn on an attempted sacrifice and Whiteman delivered his second blow, sending Shean to second. McInnes' single to left scored Shean, while Whiteman moved up to second. Scott popped to Deal and Whiteman scrambled to the keystone sack just in time to beat the Cub third baseman's peg to second. Vaughn milled them to Thomas, who swung heavily at three wide ones, this ending for Boston and the scoring also. Boston never threatened again.

The premier brand of Ruth's pitching was the chief factor in the Cub's defeat, although the superb support rendered by his teammates assisted in repulsing the Cub attack. Had the Nationals been able to bunch their blows on the Boston twirler, the game would have been over in the first, when Tamm singled after two were out and took third on Paskert's Texas leaguer to left field. Merkle was passed, filling the bases.

Outfielder Prevents Cub Victory.

With the game depending on his next offering, Ruth served up a low, fast ball to Pick, at the same time waving his outfielders back toward the bleachers. The Cub second baseman dropped a high fly to Whiteman, closing the inning. Whiteman captured the ball after a hard run and earned laurels thereby. So have missed it would have meant two runs for the locals.

Whiteman stepped in between the Cubs and victory again in the sixth. With one out, Paskert singled to center, taking third when Merkle bounded a grounder over Ruth's head and into centerfield. Pick grounded out to McInnes unassisted and Scott's quick throw from first fielded the Cub centerfielder at third. A moment later Whiteman again stepped into the fore and raced across the field after Deal's long fly to deep left. He captured it after a hard run, legged outfielding.

and the game was saved, for the Cubs never threatened thereafter.

After the sixth, Ruth pitched air-tight ball and despite Manager Mitchell's strategies the Cubs never had a look-in.

WILSON NOT TO TOUR FOR LOAN.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—It is extremely unlikely that President Wilson will make a tour of the country in behalf of the Fourth Liberty Loan. Because of the pending revenue legislation and other important matters, the President was understood today to feel that a prolonged absence from Washington this month would be unwise.

While no definite announcement that the President would make a swing around the country, speaking for the loan, has been made, it is generally understood that he was planning a trip that would take him to the Pacific coast.

COOPERSTOWN BOY IS WOUNDED

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Today's casualty list contains 332 names, divided as follows:

Killed in action, 30; missing in action, 70; wounded severely, 120; died of wounds, 13; died from accident and other causes, 2; wounded, degree undetermined, 140; died of disease, 3; total, 332.

In the above list is given the name of Corp. Hiram Delos Kinney, who is reported as having been wounded, degree undetermined. Kinney's emergency address is as follows: Mrs. Nellie Kinney, R. D. 2, Cooperstown, N. Y.

TRADE COMMISSION ASSAILED.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—The federal trade commission was sharply assailed and vigorously defended in the senate today for its recent report that the government take over control of the packing industry so as to break up what is termed as a monopoly of the meat business in this and other countries and to prevent alleged profiteering.

WAR GARDENS IN ONEONTA

Representative of State College of Agriculture Visits City — Work of Children and Adults Highly Commended — Our Gardens "Best He Has Seen."

That Oneonta will receive some excellent advertising as the result of its activity in war gardens and school gardens is already recognized.

Last year it was estimated that because of the interest in raising vegetables in this city through the efforts of the Board of Education and the Chamber of Commerce, over $20,000 increase in produce was netted over the previous year. This year the value of the produce will probably exceed the figures of a year ago by at least 100 per cent.

Early in April the students of the various schools were interested in the raising of produce. The Board of Education and the faculty co-operated in every possible manner. Mrs. Susan Hoye, who is the supervisor of gardens, encouraged the students until 200 willing young people agreed to serve their country by diligent and faithful service in home gardens. Every ten gardens have been presided over by a captain, whose duty has been to see that every recruit kept the ground in good shape, and the gardens free from weeds. Of course much rivalry existed and this stimulated the very best efforts on the part of the young tillers of the soil. In almost every instance pride and patriotism have dominated the spirit which has prompted the very best.

The vacant lot gardens and war gardens, fostered through the committee of the Chamber of Commerce, of which W. W. Capron is chairman, who has given so much time and efficient service, also have attained splendid records. Over 150 of these gardens have been yielding substantial crops which the owners have carefully and systematically looked after. The Junior Red Cross also cultivated about 50 gardens and sold the produce for the benefit of the organization.

Henry W. Schneek, representing the College of Agriculture of Ithaca, was in town recently on an official visit. He commended most highly the work of Mrs. Hoye and the substantial results she had obtained.

He also examined many of the war gardens, particularly those in Neahwa park, and stated to a Star reporter that in no city in which he has recently been privileged to visit have the results been so pronounced or in evidence of so much interest shown in garden work, as he had seen in Oneonta. He was aware that this city had received much favorable mention last year, but with the showing put forth this year he was confident few cities, if any, could claim the response that had been given the work here.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Schneek stated the state and federal authorities were now so thoroughly agreed upon a definite garden program that he was confident the future held in store much for those who desire to take up and develop garden work that everyone will be asked to raise vegetables.

MRS. SCHEMERHORN STILL LIVES

Women Injured at Walton Crossing Showing Great Physical Vigor.

Intelligence from Walton last evening was to the effect that Mrs. Adeline Scherhorn, the Bloomville woman critically injured in the automobile accident at the Delaware street crossing in that village on Wednesday noon, was still alive and while the attending surgeons could see no good grounds for hoping that she could survive her terrible injuries, yet declared that she was displaying unusual and unexpected strength and clinging tenaciously to life, and that nothings discouraging in the developments of the day made the outlook less bright. However, they steadily refused to give the friends any encouragement further than that every hour she survived without losing ground was in her favor.

It became known yesterday that there has been a dispute as to the position which the watchman occupied when the car of Dibble approached the crossing, some insisting that the flagman was behind the shanty and out of the sight of Dibble at the time and it was only after the car had passed upon the tracks and the occupants were able to see the approaching train themselves that they saw the flagman. The facts will probably be disclosed at a later inquest. There is a nice question of law involved in negligence of Dibble can be shown as to whether it can be pleaded in the case of occupants of his car killed or injured in the accident.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

The New York Markets.

New York, Sept. 5. — The restraining influence of the local financial interests was again a potent factor in today's stock market, prices yielding an average of 1 to 1½ points on a pronounced curtailment of trading after the moderately active first hour.

Promises of easier money, as suggested by yesterday's slight relaxation, was not fulfilled. Call loans were maintained at recent high levels and virtually no time funds were available. An expansion of business was reported in bank acceptances.

United States Steel was again the pivot around which the market revolved, its price fluctuating between 115½ and 113½ and closing at 114½, a loss of almost a point.

Gains of from 7 to 10½ points in some of the underlying issues of the New Haven road and its subsidiaries were the striking features of the bond market, investment issues holding steady to firm. Old United States bonds were unaltered on call.

"MOTHERS OF LIBERTY"

A DIRECT BLOW TO ARISTOCRACY

THE STORY OF
MOTHERS OF LIBERTY

Entry of the United States into the European war, finds Mrs. Walker confronted by the same problem she met in the Spanish - American war twenty years ago, when she gave her husband to her country to return no more. The enlistment of her youngest son troubles her heart, a distress that is relieved by pride. But that pride is crushed when she is convinced that her oldest son is a slacker.

The latter's sweetheart repudiates him and gives him a lesson in loyalty by going to France as a nurse, but Walker merely seeks forgetfulness in frivolities amid the safety of the Metropolis. Even there, scornful, accusing eyes pursue him and he seeks the seclusion of his library to enjoy his coveted peace and comfort. But fate pursues him in the form of a book that comes to his hand relating to the Franco-Prussian struggle of nearly half a century ago, in which he finds a parallel that fills him with loathing for himself and makes clear the path of duty.

Slacker no more, Walker goes to "do his bit" and has the good fortune to "all wounded at a moment that he covers himself with glory and to awake later in a base hospital under the care of the girl who had scorned him as yellow, and surrounded by the dear ones who had been drawn into the vortex of making war or relieving its miseries. The reconciliations and touches of love inevitable to such a situation bring the story to a pleasing close.

Try Magnesia for Your Stomach Trouble

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Drives Out Gas, Stops Indigestion.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried peppermint, carminative drugs and various laxative pills and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief. But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Bispharated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but the pure Bispharated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powder or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or borborygmous feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that, provided you take a little Bispharated Magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort following and in the long run you will find that the Bispharated Magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way as long as there are any symptoms of an indigestion.

SMITH SPEAKS AT WALTON FAIR.

Democratic Candidate for Governor Addresses Large Crowd Thursday.

Walton, Sept. 5. — Hon. Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for governor, was the chief attraction at the Walton fair today, addressing what many consider the largest crowd ever in attendance at the fair here. He spoke from the platform near the judge's stand and was introduced by Attorney Charles R. O'Connor of Hobart, who has known Mr. Smith for years.

Candidate Smith was given close attention during his twenty-minute address, which was of a patriotic character. He ignored politics and said that the one job now before the American people is to win the war and this should be done promptly and with the least sacrifice of lives.

Further referring to the part that each must play in this most important struggle in the world's history Mr. Smith said that any man or woman who fails to do his or her just share of the work, to make his or her just sacrifices will be unable to look the soldiers in the face while they return from the front. The duty is one that all should face with courage and perform with a sense of loyalty to the nation, to the flag, and to the brave boys who are giving their all. The speech made a good impression.

The Downsville band was present and enlivened the event with patriotic airs. The fair is being well attended and is proving successful in every feature.

PATRIOTS WILL REGISTER

"Patriots will register, others must!" is the slogan of the United States government in connection with the registration of all men of the nation between the ages of 18 and 45 years inclusive, which has been fixed by the President for Thursday, September 12. It will include all males of these ages except those who already have been registered in the federal draft between the ages of 21 and 31 years inclusive. The registration of June, 1917, in the state military census has nothing whatever to do with it. The sole exception is of those persons already registered under the federal law, and one who would do his patriotic duty and avoid trouble will disregard his state registration of 15 months ago and register next week.

There are a few things which the government asks citizens of the new draft age to bear in mind. Observance of them will make matters much easier for the registrant. They are:

If you are not sure whether you should register, consult the registration authorities or draft boards of the district. Do not take chances.

Failure to register, being liable, renders the draft evader subject to immediate induction into the army.

The state asks its citizens to aid in securing a 100 per cent registration next Thursday. To do this there will be approximately 1,700,000 registrants. Any considerable dropping-off will indicate slackers, and the government will be after them, as it is after the slackers of the last draft now in New York city.

Every effort is making to bring knowledge of the draft to every citizen who is liable. In view of the intensity of this effort, the excuse that the non-registered person had not heard of the enrollment or did not believe he is liable will not be accepted. Failure to register will be taken as evidence of attempted evasion.

The Home Defense committees will make every effort to see that men of draft age have personal notice of their duty to register, but whether they hear from the committee or not, it is their duty to enroll.

The Council of National Defense suggests that Registration day be a day of solemn patriotic celebration, that bells be rung, flags displayed and bands play patriotic music wherever possible.

It should be borne in mind that there can be no evasion of this draft. In general there will be no desire to evade it. The American citizen is much too patriotic for that. But there may be a few who think that in the multitude their absence will never be missed. To them the above appeal is directed; but it will be strange indeed if Otsego county, or Delaware falls of its full quota in registration.

HOME CANNING OF TOMATOES.

State College of Agriculture Gives Simple Method of Procedure.

Many housekeepers prefer the open-kettle method to the cold-pack for canning tomatoes says a Cornell bulletin, even though they may use the cold-pack method for practically all other vegetables. Although the tomatoes are not likely to hold their shape so well as by the cold-pack method, they are thought by some persons to have a better flavor.

In the open-kettle method select tomatoes that are ripe, but not over-ripe, and free from blemishes. Do not attempt to handle too many at one time. Carry the canning process through quickly. Scald the tomatoes for from one-half to two minutes, dip them into cold water and remove them quickly. With a sharp knife remove the stem, core and the skin. Place one layer of the tomatoes in an enamel kettle, and for every quart add one teaspoonful of salt and from one to three teaspoonfuls of sugar. Add no water. Bring the mass to the boiling point, and boil for from six to ten minutes. Large tomatoes should be turned during the cooking.

With a sterilized spoon, ladle them into jars that have been sterilized by being boiled for twenty minutes; fill the jars to overflowing. Adjust the rubbers that have been placed on boiling water for five minutes, and the covers that have been sterilized with the jars. Seal the jars and invert them to cool.

RETURNS TO NEW YORK CITY

Prof. Robinson Leaves for Metropolis After Summer with City Boys in Delaware.

Prof. Frank D. Robinson of New York city, who has spent practically the entire summer in Delaware county, with headquarters at Delhi, was in Oneonta yesterday on his way home. For the past week, however, he had been with his family at the cottage owned by him at Cold Spring on the Susquehanna, above Portlandville. The work of Prof. Robinson this summer had been to supervise the activities of the 70 boys who had been sent out from the schools of the metropolis to work on farms in Delaware county. Besides placing the boys suitably, it was among his duties to visit them at frequent intervals, to keep in close touch with them and their employers and to see that misunderstandings and differences between the lads and the farmers were straightened out. In the pursuit of this work Mr. Robinson has traveled over 7,000 miles over the Delaware hills since last spring.

A most satisfactory fact in connection with the farm cadet movement in Delaware county the present season is that in general boys and farmers were alike satisfied. A few boys were removed from one place to another, but even in these cases the difference was mostly a misunderstanding. The boys were changed to other places in which they fitted better, and there was no further complaint.

Most of the boys have returned to New York to be ready for the opening of the schools, next week. Fourteen, however, are still with the farmers, helping to gather the crops which they earlier planted.

All express themselves as well pleased with their summer in the country. The farmers also are pleased, and there is no question that whether the war goes on or not, many of them will return another year. They have found recreation in change of scenery and employment, and are physically much benefited by country life; they have found financial gain also and the frequent requests of the farmers that they come another year is almost as often accorded to as refused.

MOTOR CAR ACCIDENTS.

Rex Chamberlain Collides with Load of Hay on South Side.

On Monday night last, at about 11 o'clock, while coming down the South Side highway with a load of hay, the team of horses of William Anderson, driven by John Finkle, slipped and fell on the macadam. Shortly afterward Rex Chamberlain, driving a Ford taxi, came up behind and collided with the wagon, pushing it ahead some distance. One forward wheel passed over the body of one of the horses, and it was pinioned down by the hind wheel and the other horse was also against the other hind wheel. Fortunately the wagon was rerolled and the horses liberated when it was found that neither of the animals were injured. In the taxi were several passengers, but they also escaped without injury, although the right side of the taxi was more or less damaged.

Tuesday afternoon, about 6 o'clock, while driving down River street, Dr. Hendrick of Dietz street accidentally hit a boy on a bicycle who was moving in the same direction. The boy was thrown off and escaped without any serious injury, but one wheel of the bicycle was ruined. This will probably be replaced by the physician. Both are being congratulated that the accident was not more serious.

One afternoon recently, while driving on Market street, Lynn Seeger had the misfortune to hit one Arthur Lee, who stepped off from the sidewalk in front of the car. One fender hit Lee who was knocked down, but as he was moderately well permeated with alcohol he suffered no serious harm.

GRANGE PICNIC AT OTEGO.

Largely Attended with Patriotic Address by Granville Rathbun.

About 250 were in attendance at the Grange picnic, held at the DeKalb premises at the corner of the Flax Island creek road and the state highway below the village of Otego, under the auspices of the Otego Grange Labor day, and all report it a most successful event. The address given by Granville Rathbun of Oneonta was at once an inspiration and help to do one's part in the winning of the war and was of encouragement to all within the sound of his voice. All were helped by it.

There was an old fashioned picnic dinner, the tables being well spread and there was an abundance of good things to eat. The young folks indulged in various games, including baseball, while the older ones spent the afternoon in social diversions with a renewal of acquaintances and a general visiting time. It is planned to make it an annual event.

CARBON WANTED FOR GAS MASKS

War Department Wants Boys and Girls to Collect Peach, Plum, Cherry Pits and all Kinds of Nutsells to Aid in Winning the War.

Mrs. Susan Hoyt, supervisor of gardens in the city, has received the following letter from the New York state college of agriculture at Cornell university. The matter is of importance and will be brought to the attention of the boys and girls in the various schools of the city this morning. Arrangements will be made so that the contributions may be left at the Red Cross headquarters on Chestnut street.

To Teachers of Agriculture, Directors of Agriculture and Junior Extension Leaders:

I am in receipt of the following telegram from Washington which is self-explanatory:

War department desires co-operation of club forces in collecting peach, plum, cherry pits and all kinds of nutshells for use in making carbon for gas masks. Patriotic service. Collect at Farm Bureau or central places. War department will furnish bags and collect later. May we urge take this up with club forces and begin immediate collection. (Signed) Benson.

In view of the foregoing I am sure that you will urge the boys and girls under your supervision to do everything they can to aid in this "out-of-the-ordinary," but very necessary phase of war work. Various methods may be adopted for collecting the pits, but perhaps the easiest and most convenient way will be to install some sort of receptacle in the hallway of every school or in a sheltered and convenient place just outside the school entrance, in which the children can place their contributions day by day.

Please notify me as soon as you have pits (five pounds or more) sufficient for shipment. I will then see that you are provided with the necessary bags and shipping directions as furnished by the war department.

Very sincerely yours,

F. L. Griffiths,

State Leader Junior Extension.

Little Hope if the Recovery of Joseph Kelley Injured on Wednesday.
While a slight improvement in the condition of Joseph Kelley, who suffered a compound fracture of the skull in the D. & H. yards here Wednesday afternoon, is reported at the Fox hospital, this no not considered sufficient to base any hopes for his ultimate recovery, which is considered extremely doubtful.
The family is receiving the sympathy of all friends. It was only Tuesday last when Frank Kelley, a brother, left for a training camp to enter the federal service and another brother, Michael, is upon the list of those called to report for duty Monday next and the news that a third one has been fatally injured is a severe blow for the family.

MUST REGISTER THURSDAY

All Males Between 18 and 45 Inclusive Not Previously Registered Must Appear—Polling Places Designated as Registration Offices.
All the registrars have been appointed, provision has been made for suitable registration places, and all preparations for the 18 to 45 registration next Thursday, September 12, are nearly completed, according to a statement given out by a Local Board official last evening. Tomorrow Chairman Baird and Chief Clerk Moore of the Local Board will visit the registration places out of the city by automobile, distributing the necessary supplies, instructing the chief registrars, and administering their oaths of office. The district under the jurisdiction of the Local Board comprises the city of Oneonta and the towns of Otsego, Otego, Unadilla, Buttertuts, Worcester, Milford, Maryland and Laurens. There will be 25 places of registration, eight of which are in the city.

Registration Notes.

All male persons, aliens as well as citizens, who shall have attained their 18th birthday and shall not have attained their 45th birthday on or before the 12th of September, must register on that date unless they are in the service or have previously registered for the draft. The state military census of June, 1917, has nothing to do with registration for draft. The two should not be confused.

Men must register at the primary voting places in their respective voting districts. Persons who are in doubt as to the location of their polling places should secure such information at once.

If you are to be absent from your voting district on September 12, consult the Local Board at once for instructions. If you have a permanent residence outside of the district, but shall be here on September 12, consult the Board at once for instructions as to how to register under the jurisdiction of your own Board.

Ignorance of the law excuses no one. The penalty for failing to register as required is a year's imprisonment, without alternative of fine and immediate induction into the service at the expiration of the sentence. The law will be strictly enforced by local, state and federal officials.

Notice of Final Classification.

The predicament in which tens of thousands of persons in New York and vicinity who did not have their small white notices of final classification on their persons found themselves during the recent extensive "slacker raid" should be an example to all registrants to carry their cards at all times. The law requires this to be done. If you have lost your notice of final classification, consult the Local Board at once.

REVEALS SHOCKING DEPRAVITY.

Lawrence Kuhn Charged With Rape of Five Year Old Girl.

Lawrence Kuhn, who since his advent in the city from Pennsylvania has not borne any too savory reputation, is now at the county jail held on the charge of rape, his victim being a little five year old girl in the home where he was a reputed "boarder" during the absence of the reputed husband, who is with the colors in France.

The attempt at this shocking crime was committed it is alleged in the home during the absence of the mother. Kuhn has been a boarder in the home only since July 15.

After a short examination before City Judge Shore, Kuhn was held in $5,000 bail which is believed will hold him until the jury acts upon the case. District Attorney Pierson was present and personally conducted the proceedings and with him appeared W. H. Michaels Jr., who is the officer of the Society for the Protection of Children for the county.

Arrangements have been made for the care of the unfortunate girl in an institution where her morals, it is believed, will be more safe than they have been. Her name is withheld not for any consideration of the mother, but for the future of the innocent victim of this man's depravity.

NO INDICTMENT FOUND.

Louis Krofft, the Oneonta Man Held for Tearing Down Flag, Released.
The federal grand jury which had been in session several weeks at Syracuse and to which was presented by the United States district attorney the case against Louis Krofft, finished its work earlier in the week and returned numerous indictments, but failed to indict Mr. Krofft and he was released. He is expected home this week.

It will be recalled that Krofft, while in an intoxicated condition, tore down the American flag from the front of the saloon on Market street, known as the Stone Jug, and later was arrested and held on the charge. The matter was presented to United States Commissioner O'Neil of Binghamton, who, after a thorough investigation of the case, held him for the federal grand jury. It is understood that the commissioner was inclined to release him after the first examination, but it appearing that the prosecuting attorney had decided to present the case to the grand jury the commissioner felt that he should hold him and permit the jury to determine the man's guilt of intentional crime.

Krofft from the first has expressed willingness to enlist in the service and his record for loyalty and patriotic support of the government was excellent. The action of the grand jury in accepting that he had been sufficiently punished meets with approval here. In fact, strong appeals to the federal court for leniency were made.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY.

Commissioner O'Neil Holds Currier, Marino and Chicorelli.

United States Commissioner George S. O'Neil of Binghamton on Wednesday held Charles Currier, the chief clerk in the D. & H. division engineer's office here, Tony Chicorelli, the section foreman, and Frank Marino, the former employee implicated with the others in the alleged padding of the pay rolls of that department of the company, for the federal grand jury, which meets in Auburn the first week in October.
At the hearing before the commissioner in Binghamton on Wednesday only a preliminary examination was held, the evidence being considered sufficient to warrant presenting the case to the grand jury in each instance. Attorney E. B. Holmes of this city appeared for Currier and Marino, and a Binghamton attorney for Chicorelli.

Bail was fixed at $2,000 in the case of Currier and was furnished by a Stamford friend of the accused. Bail in the case of Chicorelli was fixed at $2,000, and in the case of Marino at $1,000, both of which were furnished and all defendants were released.
So far as can be learned, no further evidence has been unearthed and no other parties have been implicated.

FRAIL, DELICATE CHILD

Restored to Health by Vinol.

Manville, R. I. — "The whooping cough, after the measles, left my little boy of eight years with no appetite, thin, frail, delicate and tired all the time. After everything else had failed, Vinol gave him a hearty appetite, restored his strength and he is now as well as ever."

The beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones and glycerophosphate contained in Vinol were just what this little boy needed to restore him to health. We strongly recommend Vinol. H. B. Giddens and druggists everywhere.

IF YOU have to buy clothes this fall ask yourself this question: "How can I do it most economically?" That's really the one vital question; be particular about this for your own sake and the country's sake; this nation can't afford wasteful clothes or wasteful anything else.

War Economy in Clothes

The amount you spend isn't the most important thing; if you want really good quality and value, you've got to spend enough to get it. All clothes are higher priced than they were a year ago. The question for you is, "As the price has advanced, has the quality been kept up?" In the case of Kirschbaum and Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes, the truth is, the quality has been kept up, but the price hasn't advanced in proportion.

We're better prepared than ever to serve you with these good clothes at $25.00 to $40.00.

It would be wise to investigate your present heating system and see that it circulates (not radiates) pure, warm, ever changing air, free from dust, gas and smoke. If it does less than this you are jeopardizing the health of your family.

Ask your doctor. He will tell you that the proper percentage of moisture in the air is supremely essential to comfort and health. Also satisfy yourself with regard to the importance of the proper circulation of the air. You get both in our installation of Glenwood Furnaces, either the one pipe or several pipe style.
